

Donna Rude

Equine management

I am a junior at Estacada High School; this is my third year being involved with the FFA. I joined because I have always been interested in agriculture, and have wanted to be a veterinarian since I was in pre-school. The National FFA gives out over $2 million dollars in scholarships each year, thus improving my chances of getting into a good veterinary college (OSU).

For my SAE (Supervised Agricultural Experience) I have been working at SpringWater Station learning how to breed and manage Kiger Mustangs. While Working at SpringWater Station I have learned many things, including how to handle and breed stallions, productively market and sell horses, repair fences, different training techniques, and alternative feed sources.
